

Car Battery

Having a car battery fail is always at the most inconvenient time. A flat battery is the single most common reason for calling Roadside Rescue - often requiring a jump-start or replacement car battery.

Warning Signs

A few warning signs that your battery needs to be checked:

- Your car is slow to start
- Using electrical components of your vehicle (the radio) while the car isn't running, causes the battery to go flat quickly.
- There's a funny smell, almost like rotten eggs.

Many people don't realise batteries need to be looked after, and as a result they are probably the most neglected component of a vehicle. Simple things like keeping the terminals clean, to making sure it isn't bouncing around in its casing, will help you get a longer life out of your car battery.
